
List of Screen Suppliers

Posted by admin - 2008/11/08 17:38

I thought I'd start a list of screen suppliers so that our members know what is available out in the market. This list is not comprehensive so I may need your help to grow this list (the companies listed are mentioned in no particular order):

- Sony
- LG
- Samsung
- Panasonic
- Sanyo
- Mitsubishi
- Conica
- Benq
- Sharp
- Chimei
- NextWindow
- NEC
- IllusionScreen

Prices and quality of the screens vary between the different brands, so before you purchase a screen for your client determine the following:

What features does the client need, ie projection, touchscreen, 3D?

What are the warranty options?

What screen size does the client need and is it worth going for something smaller or larger?

What types of connectors does the screen support i.e HDMI, S-VIDEO, DVI, VGA etc?

What brackets does the screen support?

Do you need a screen which has speakers?

What type of screen technology should you use?

Let me know if I've left any other companies out or if there is an obvious question that I've left out.

=====

Re:List of Screen Suppliers

Posted by umi - 2008/11/11 13:02

I really love Samsung products.

=====

Re:List of Screen Suppliers

Posted by dannyh - 2008/11/19 20:15

One thing to add on that is each manufacturer creates different grades of screens - commercial grade and consumer grade. Each has their benefits over the other, and your selection should be based on the client's requirements.

=====

Re:List of Screen Suppliers

Posted by matran - 2008/11/23 01:21

umi wrote:

I really love Samsung products.

Can you shed some light as to what features you love about the Samsung screens?

=====